Top 8 Websites to Use When You Are Bored

Feeling bored is a common thing for everyone. Students are bored with their studies. We are bored with their daily life or with their jobs. Doing new things is the best way to kill your boredom.

Learning new things, new facts, and doing new things with the help of new ideas that are thinking are also interesting and also kill your boredom. We bored daily use of Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter. We need to changement for living their life meaningful.

Here are 8 interesting websites for bored people to kill time:

- The Oatmeal:

The Oatmeal is a webcomic and humor website created in 2009 by cartoonist Matthew Inman. Inman updates his site with original comics, quizzes, and occasional articles.

His wacky drawings are mainly based on relatable life situations, education, and crazy stories that would never be possible in real life.

- Noiys:

With the help of Noiys, You can share your thoughts or secrets with the world. This website allows every visitor to reply to others' notes. You can tell the world who you are with the help of that note.

It's basically a collection of anonymous notes that stay on the website for 24 hours and then get deleted. You can write your secrets or share your thoughts with the world without ever letting anyone know who you are.

- Cool Things:

If you search the latest cool gadgets in chrome. Then cool things' website is the best website for you. Not only Cool gadgets they include toys, inventions, and gadgets.

It's a great place to get unique ideas for the gifts as well as, whenever you're looking for gifts for both men and women. Especially gadgets and that thing you can use in your home. They also provide articles and information about cool gadgets.

- 100,000 stars:

This is one of the best & beautiful things created by Google Chrome. It shows a representation of the galaxy. Especially The stars inside the galaxy. It's the most beautiful seen.

You can take a tour of the galaxy from sun to 100,000 stars. Open this interactive visualization in the browser, you definitely liked it.

- Big Think:

This website is the best website to motivate yourself and learn from others' mistakes. It's a place where we find stories of Successful people of the world. And also find their ideas.

It's a place that shares ideas and insights from the most successful people around the world. You will learn from the mistakes of the others and their successes too.

- ## Super Cook:

Founder - Assaf Rozenblatt. Super cook. This website is my favourite one. If you want to cook, but do have not to sufficient ingredients. Then you can cook the food with the available ingredients.

I love this website too much because you cooked with fun, and you can cook new recipes on daily basis with the help of available ingredients.

- ## Hacker News:

Paul Graham – Founder. Hacker News has been internationally recognized as a leading news source dedicated to promoting awareness for security experts and hackers.

Hacker News is the website you should be on if you're interested to stay in the loop of the cybersecurity world and Startup.

- ## Not Always right:

Not always right is the website where you can read true and funny, working, romantic stories and many more. If you're a working candidate then you have a probable lot of stories. And most important things they do have a similar story. In there you can read similar stories from different people.

However, it's a good collection of stories that prove the customer is not always right.